Dear Parent or Guardian,

USDA, the governing agency for the National School Lunch Program, has issued rules concerning milk substitutes (such as juice) for students with non-disabling conditions. The regulation applies to students without disabilities. Lactose intolerance or milk sensitivity does not meet the definition of a disability in the USDA programs. The regulation recognizes the valuable contribution of milk to a child's diet and, therefore, does not allow a school to offer beverages, such as juice, to substitute for milk in the school meal programs.

The only milk substitutes allowed under this rule for students without disabilities are non-dairy beverages that meet the established nutrient requirements. Non-dairy beverages offered as fluid milk substitutes must be nutritionally equivalent to fluid milk, which means they must provide specific levels of calcium, protein, vitamins A and D, magnesium, phosphorus, potassium, riboflavin, and vitamin B-12.

The school food service program will make available lactose-free milk in half pint cartons as part of the lunch program at no additional charge to those students who have provided documentation that they are lactose intolerant or milk sensitive. To request lactose-free milk for your student, please complete Attachment A of this letter and return it to your school nurse.

If your child has a disability (such as an allergy to milk, which is an allergic reaction to the milk protein), a diet order from a Physician, a Nurse Practitioner or Physician Assistant is required. Attachment B should be completed when a child has a disabling allergy to milk. Diet orders typically will include all potential sources of milk in the student's diet, not just fluid milk (i.e., cheese and milk by-products such as casein/whey) These orders from a medical professional, for disabling conditions, must answer a series of questions in order to be implemented by the school.

The diet order must:

- Identify the disability.
- Explain why the disability restricts the child's diet.
- Address the major life activity affected by the disability.
- List the food or foods to be omitted from the child's diet and the food or choice of foods that must be substituted.
- Indicate the food texture.

If you have questions or need further explanation regarding his letter, please contact me at 732-521-6042, Ext. 2042.

Sincerely,

Cindy Sue Schaller
Food Service Director

Accommodation for Lactose Intolerance or Milk Sensitivity with Lactose-Free Milk Substitution

The School Nutrition Program requires a signed diet order for the conditions known as lactose intolerance or milk sensitivity for your student. The substitute that our school district provides is lactose-free milk.

Please fill in the form below, indicating that you would like lactose-free milk as a substitution for your student, and return it to the cafeteria manager at your school.

Citations are from Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, and ADA Amendment Act of 2008:

A person with a disability is defined as any person who has a physical or mental impairment which substantially limits one or more major life activities, has a record of such impairment, or is regarded as having such an impairment.

Physical or mental impairment means (a) any physiological disorder or condition, cosmetic disfigurement, or anatomical loss affecting one or more of the following body systems: neurological; musculoskeletal; special sense organs; respiratory; speech; organs; cardiovascular; reproductive, digestive, genito-urinary; hemic and lymphatic; skin; and endocrine; or (b) any mental or psychological disorder, such as mental retardation, organic brain syndrome, emotional or mental illness, and specific learning disabilities.

Major life activities include, but are not limited to, caring for oneself, performing manual tasks, seeing, hearing, eating, sleeping, walking, standing, lifting, bending, speaking, breathing, learning, reading, concentrating, thinking, communicating, and working.

Major bodily functions have been added to major life activities and include the functions of the immune system; normal cell growth; and digestive, bowel, bladder, neurological, brain, respiratory, circulatory, endocrine, and reproductive functions.

“Has a record of such an impairment” means a person has, or has been classified (or misclassified) as having, a history of mental or physical impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities.
